MoMo

The Dutch initiative Mobilising More (in short: MoMo) identifies high impact climate adaptation and mitigation projects that can be financed through public—private instruments. It aims to mobilise private finance for climate action in developing countries by matching innovative and inspiring ideas with existing and new funding opportunities in both the Netherlands and through international financing mechanisms.

Be part of MoMo!

Do you have an inspiring and innovative idea to mobilise private finance for climate change solutions in a developing country, and is your organisation Dutch, then contact MoMo and submit your idea. The proposals should be actionable (have a business plan) and have a direct impact (not be a conference or a report).

The MoMo secretariat will assess the proposals and help them in finding financing instruments, solutions or partners that can help get the project implemented. All proposals reviewed by the MoMo panel of financial experts will receive feedback on the actionability, strength of the business case and potential for financing.
